PRESS RELEASE

ISTANBUL: July 11, 2017. Turkish Cargo has begun flying an A330 freighter to Kano, Nigeria with a return via Dakar, Senegal every Tuesday.

Increasing the frequency of its cargo flights to Dakar on weekly basis from one to two upon launch of flights to Kano, Turkish Cargo will increase its operations across the region.

As the second destination after Lagos in Nigeria to which Turkish Cargo will operate cargo flights, Kano stands out with its processed leather products exported to especially European countries.

Appealing other important markets such as India and Sudan, all products, which have been manufactured in Kano but transported via Lagos before, will now be able to be transported right from the location of manufacture.

The new service adds another Turkish Cargo destination in Africa following the launch of scheduled cargo A330 freighter flights to Johannesburg and Madagascar on July 1st, 2017.
